SMARTLEAF®

Smartleaf® compost is also called College Park's Black Gold by those who have used it. It is rich in nutrients, so it will keep your flowers and grass happy!

Smartleaf® is produced from locally collected municipal leaves which are piled into long rows called windrows for composting. Grass clippings are added for a supply of nitrogen to the microorganisms which decompose the leaves. The windrow piles are about six feet high by sixteen feet wide. A windrow turner drives over the piles and turns the leaves, incorporating oxygen which allows the windrows to decompose more evenly.

Heat is generated in the windrows by microorganisms as they transform the leaves into compost. The temperature is monitored for quality assurance and is maintained at 55° C or higher which kills any present weed seeds and harmful plant pathogens.

The compost is screened to filter out large particles of debris. Smartleaf® is a screened product that has particle sizes under 1/2 inch which is top grade dressing. The composition is routinely tested, and has a PH between 7.4-8.0
